

Stand in the Place Where You Live: An ICCE & AACC Regional Service Learning Workshop

- ❖ Workshop Date: Friday April 24th, 2009
 - ❖ Registration & Breakfast from 8 to 9
 - ❖ Workshop 9:00 a.m.-4 p.m. – with a 1 hr for a working lunch = Community Panel
 - ❖ Location: California History Center located on the De Anza College Campus
- Registration cost is $30.00.
 - Please go to the De Anza Institute for Community Engagement web site:
<http://www.deanza.edu/communityengagement/aacc-sp09/> to download the registration form.
 - After filling it out you can either mail the form with your registration fee to the address below or e-mail you the form to the address below to reserve your spot

On April 24th 2009, De Anza Community College will host an AACC Regional one-day Workshop designed to support efforts to establish service-learning programs and strengthen existing programs within community colleges.

This workshop will feature a keynote presentation by Dr. Brian Murphy, founder of San Francisco State University's Institute of Civic and community Engagement, a premier service learning organization and model. For the rest of the day, workshop attendees will have the opportunity to engage service learning practitioners in discussions about community partnerships, curriculum integration and how to determine the level of civic engagement in an organization. In addition the third segment of the workshop is designed to focus on how to more fully engage Pacific Islander Students.

This workshop is funded through a grant provided by the American Association of Community Colleges and Learn and Serve America and De Anza College Institute of Community and Civic Engagement.

Mayra Cruz, Director
De Anza College
Institute of Community and Civic Engagement
21250 Stevens Creek Boulevard
Cupertino, CA 95014

Phone: (408)864-8349
Email: communityengagement@deanza.edu

