Public Comments
Please note: Members of the public are limited to two minutes. The Senate cannot take action or respond to items during public comments.

- Alex Giardino: She is the honors program coordinator. She and Eden have been talking about concerns the Senate body has about the honors program. They are working with several alumni to energize the program and there will be an event on Saturday so people will have the opportunity to speak with Alumni and get advice about school and transfer. The event is funded by Alumni. They are also working actively with UCLA to get a transfer agreement. Transfer agreements take a long to do, but it is in the works, and hopes next year a transfer agreement for UCLA will be in place. However there are no guarantees as of this time. They have called schools such as Columbia and Berkeley and learned these schools look very highly on the Honors designation from De Anza College. It is not taken lightly or dismissed and really means something to the schools. They are working on having a more consistent program and hopes that DASB will continue to support the program.

- Beth Grobman: Wanted to thank the body for giving a show of confidence in the Insider and La Voz by giving the full funding requested.

- Julie Pesano: Thanked the body for the funding. They have lots of workshops planned as well as speakers coming each quarter. The request for next year was increased.

- Karen Chow: Heard concerns about more could be done with marketing and they created student staff to work on that specifically. They think students are much more effective ambassadors.

- Jordan: Wanted to thank everyone who went to the board of trustees meeting on Monday. He really appreciated the support. The project service agreements were very heated and took more time than he would have like. They are planning to take the VTA transit center off their project list. He has officially endorsed Foothill college. Sunday there is a photo shoot and the photographer would like a diverse amount of students there. Email him so you can get more information.
Burning Issues

- Stephy He: The office was cleaned up last week, but in just over a week it has been messed up again. She will recycle all paper on the tables at the end of the day from now on so please remember to take all your stuff when you leave.

- Kurt Pham: Put paper in scrap paper bin instead of in the recycle bin so that it can be reused instead.

- Jackie Lee: Someone came into the office wanting to use the computer related to politics, but would not be specific. Concerned about friends coming into the office and using office equipment for their own use without supervision or a purpose relating to assisting the DASB.

- George Tsai: More computer mice for the office.

- Alex Lin: Shouldn’t bring friends to do random stuff in the office. Limit the number of friends you bring in. Bring them only if they’re doing something with you, not to just hang out. Students may walk past and feel discouraged to come in because it looks too crowded in the office. If you’re going to print out anything that has personal information on it please don’t leave it on a desk so that anyone can see it. And don’t leave your homework lying around.

- Tommy Agustina: Commented that using Point of Privilege disturbs the meeting and asks to just lift name plaques instead to request one.

- Robin Claassen: Figure out a better structure so that we can be better body. Wants to create legacy binders to pass down to future generations of the DASB. Also wants to create a researchable computer directory of the DASB history. Thinks changing the structure so that there is an overlap with the old and new senate so that the new can learn from the old would be beneficial. Done through workshops and the like. Invites anybody that would like to work with him on coming up with ideas to come talk to him.

- George Tsai: After done using the computer please clean off the desktop.

- Yujin Yoshimura: Some Senators are getting lazy doing office hours.

- Esha Menon: Did a classroom presentation last week and it really struck her when someone asked what was the chances of these things being dealt with and no one could answer and it was really embarrassing. Thinks the body should get cracking to get things done so they have something they can show for progress.

- George Tsai: Every time he goes back to a classroom it’s always the same concerns of people asking when something will be fixed.

- Alex Lin: Committee is still Meeting every Monday at 4pm. If you’re concerned about the presentations at all please come to the meeting so you can voice your concerns. Instead of giving the proposal to the senate and then saying you have a problem with it bring it to the planning stage to save time.
