Test Accommodations

Classroom Faculty Help Guide

Clockwork is a complete scheduling and data management system that streamlines and simplifies access to information, accommodations, and scheduling for DSPS counseling appointments and accessing service providers such as tests accommodations, alternate media, mobility assistance, and Deaf Hard of Hearing Services.

As of April 1, 2015, new or returning DSPS students have been using ClockWork via MyPortal.

When a student with a verified and eligible disability meets with their DSPS Counselor, they will agree upon the appropriate academic adjustments, auxiliary aids, and services (accommodations) that the student will need in their specific classes.

These accommodations are specific to the course, or courses, into which the student is enrolling. Their purpose and design is to “level the playing field” for the student in the classroom and not to provide the student an advantage over the other students in the class. Likewise, academic accommodations do not require an instructor to make any fundamental alterations in the nature of the discipline or the subject matter to be learned or the skills to be obtained.

Once the accommodations are agreed upon for a specific course, each instructor will receive an Accommodation Letter from the student’s DSPS Counselor. The Accommodation Letter notifies the instructor that the DSPS student has a qualifying disability and lists the accommodations the student is authorized to use in the class. Instructors are asked to keep this letter for their files in a confidential location.

If you have any questions or concerns regarding the student’s accommodations, please contact the student’s DSPS Counselor at the phone number or email address at the bottom of the Accommodation Letter.

As is often the case, the DSPS student enrolled in one of your classes has been granted specific accommodations when taking tests, exams, and quizzes.

The student with test accommodations will ask you for a list of all the planned test, exams, and quizzes for the quarter.

Once a student delivers this information to the DSPS Test Accommodation Center and has booked a test with the Test Proctor, you will receive a notification email to tell us about the test. The Test Proctor's email will ask you to access the ClockWork system where you can share with us your plans and conditions for your test/exam.

The ClockWork system will then send you automatic email reminders at 7/5/3 day intervals prior to the test date/time until the test is delivered to the Test Proctor.

Test accommodations are:

- Federal and State mandated services, and
- Must be provided in a timely manner.

Please access the ClockWork system as soon as you receive the email notification that your student has booked a test with the Test Accommodation Center.

The rest of this Help Guide will take you through the ClockWork web module steps needed to implement the student's test accommodation.

If you have any questions or concerns regarding the test accommodations process, please contact Michael Galindo, the DSPS Test Proctor, located in LCW 110 (M-F 7:00 a.m. - 4:00 p.m.) GalindoMichael@fhda.edu 408-864-8927
