Course Description: This course is an introduction to some of the many indigenous art traditions around the world. Emphasis will be placed upon Sub-Saharan African, indigenous American and Oceanic art history. We will take a thematic and comparative approach to learning about indigenous arts and cultures, recognizing commonalities such as the importance of oral history, ancestors, family, community, ceremony and place. Other themes include access to materials and the environment, gender, the role of the individual artist and patron, and the importance of both tradition and innovation.

Critical analysis of the history of colonialism, collecting of indigenous arts, and representation in museums will provide a framework for understanding indigenous arts in a global context today. We will explore how indigenous arts and artistic practices reveal to us current challenges and solutions Native artists use in the 21st century to maintain cultural heritage while also building contemporary social/political awareness. Students will work collaboratively, becoming actively involved in their own learning experience.

Required Texts (available at the Bookstore and ON RESERVE in the Learning Center):

Berlo, Janet C. and Ruth B. Phillips, Native North American Art. Oxford: Oxford University Press, 2014.
Kahn, Miriam and Erin Younger, eds. Pacific Voices: Keeping Our Cultures Alive. Seattle: University of Washington Press, 2005.

All reading assignments from textbooks for each week are listed below. I will assign online articles and handouts to read as well.

Student Learning Outcomes (SLO):

Students will investigate and validate the artistic contributions of indigenous cultures from around the world, critically comparing these contributions from diverse indigenous peoples.

Students will develop an increased awareness and appreciation for diverse worldviews and artistic expressions, while critiquing misconceptions and stereotypes and assessing the relevancy of traditional indigenous art forms in a current global context.

Students will critically analyze and evaluate diverse scholarly perspectives addressing indigenous arts and cultures.

Students will apply skills demonstrating their abilities to analyze artworks on the basis of social, cultural, political, economic and/or ethnic contexts and issues relevant to gender studies.

Students will demonstrate critical thinking and visual literacy skills through oral communication.

Students will write a research paper utilizing her or his ability to analyze, evaluate and synthesize primary and secondary sources.

In this class, I will expect students to:

1. Contribute to a positive, collaborative learning environment by being open and receptive to the ideas and opinions of others. It is ok to disagree with a concept, but please be respectful of the ideas of others.
 2. Attend class regularly. More than three absences will result in the lowering of your grade one full step (A to a B, B to a C, etc.) or being dropped from the class. After three missed class sessions, I have the option of dropping you from enrollment. However, I consider it your responsibility to drop the course if you find it necessary to do so.
 3. Be on time and practice polite classroom etiquette. If you are late, I may count you absent, especially if you disturb the class. Don't hold separate conversations during lecture time or class discussions. Others may want to hear what is going on in class. Come prepared to class and participate.
- Turn off cell phones during class time – it is distracting for other students and the teacher.
4. Don't cheat. Anyone found cheating on an exam or plagiarizing (copying material without reference or credit) will be given an "F" on that exam or assignment and may fail the course. Each student MUST write his/her own paper, even if research was conducted with others. If two students hand in the same paper, each will receive half the points earned (equivalent to an "F").
 5. Finish paper and reading assignments on time. Readings complement the material we cover in class. Completing the reading assignments will help your ability to participate in class discussions. NO E-MAIL SUBMISSIONS OF COURSE WORK WILL BE ACCEPTED without instructor approval.

Assignments: Two exams are required. They will be composed of matching and multiple choice questions and short essays. Sample questions to be answered will be provided in class. Students will write short responses (1-2 pages) using an essay format for exam questions. The midterm will be Monday, May 2ND . The final exam will be Wednesday, June 22 at 9:15-11:15 a.m.

ABSOLUTELY NO EARLY EXAMS OR MAKE-UP EXAMS WILL BE GIVEN. If you miss an exam due to an emergency, please discuss the situation with me.

A number of short in-class writings, activities and assignments, sometimes done in small groups, will be required throughout the quarter. See class participation in grade breakdown below.

A short in-class group presentation (3 minutes per student) will be scheduled for the last week of the quarter. The final paper assignment is a research paper and optional art project. It is 4-6 pages. The research paper requires a total bibliography of 4 sources. I will assist you in skills needed for documenting and writing research papers. See class handout for full instructions regarding the final paper assignment. All papers need to be typed, double-spaced and proofread.

Grading Policy: Grades are determined using a scale of 100 points as follows:

Class participation	=	20 points	Above 96	A+
Class group presentation =		5 points	96-93	A 92-90 A-
Midterm exam =		25 points	89-87	B+ 86-83 B 82-80 B-
Final Paper =		20 points	79-77	C+ 76-73 C 72-70 C-
Final Exam =		30 points	69-60	D
		100 points possible	Below 60	F

Extra Credit: An opportunity to receive up to 8 points in extra credit will be discussed in class.

NOTE: Class participation is a very important component in your final grade. This class relies upon student participation as well as the instructor's input. You need to take an active interest in class discussion and activities.

Outline for Describing a Work of Art

When studying or writing about art, make note of the following:

WHO? For whom and by whom was the object made? Specific artist known?
Patron known? (Who commissioned or paid for an artwork?)
WHAT? What is it? What is its title or subject?
WHERE? Where was it made? What site and is this an important factor?
WHY? Why was this object made? For what purpose? What does it tell us about the culture who made and used it?
HOW? How was it made? What are the materials and techniques used?

Does the artwork reveal anything about the following contexts?

Historical Cultural Social Political
Religious or ceremonial
Economic

What is the subject matter? What motifs or symbols are used and what is their significance? Art historians call this iconography.

When describing the style of an artwork (stylistic analysis), consider the following:

Scale: What is the size and why is this important?
Composition: What is the overall arrangement of the elements of the piece?
Is the design balanced or symmetrical? Asymmetrical?
Do the motifs fill the entire design surface? How is space used?
What are the relationships of the designs to one another?
Overall approach: Is it naturalistic? Based on natural forms, but stylized?
Geometric? Abstract (not naturalistic)?
Shape: What is the basic shape or contour of the piece?
What shapes does the artist use? Square, circle, triangle?
Line: What is the character of the painted, sculpted, beaded, embroidered, woven line? Are forms strongly outlined? Is the line curvilinear?
Straight-edged? Dynamic, meandering, fluid? Do forms suggest movement?
Color: What are the colors used? How do they affect the work? Are they bright?
Subtle in effect? How is black and white used? Are shadows obvious?
Texture: Is texture indicated? How does this affect the work?

How have all the elements above contributed to the way the piece looks?

What is the emotional impact on you, the viewer?

Do these aspects of style suggest anything about the contexts given above?

About the artist and his or her culture?

Name _____

Changing Perceptions of African Art (article on faculty website)

How did European perceptions of Africa change in the 19th century?

Why do you think these perceptions changed?

How did the writings about African art change as well?

African Art as Art

What are some of the potential problems we face when defining African art as art?

Oral History and Indigenous Arts

Using the website Heilbrunn Timeline of Art History, The Metropolitan Museum of Art (www.metmuseum.org/toah/) – link provided on instructor’s website (<http://faculty.deanza.fhda.edu/cadgemoorecatie/>), find the thematic essay, Ways of Recording African History (under African Art).

Read the short essay and answer the following questions.

1. In what ways did African societies record and preserve history in the past?
2. Provide several examples of art objects or cultural artifacts that were used to document history in Africa. How were they used?

2 Participation points

This quarter I have over 180 students combined in the four classes that I teach, and the names in the official records are often not the names that students prefer to use. To help me learn all of your names, please submit a photograph of yourself.

To save paper, you need to print, copy, or paste it onto this worksheet. Try to size the picture so that your face is at least two inches high. Underneath the picture, print your name as you would like it to be used in class.

Include a brief paragraph ABOUT YOU!
