

Reading questions for Kant, Groundwork for the Metaphysics of Morals

-According to Kant, there is only one thing that can be called good 'without qualification'. What is it?

-What does it mean to say that something is good 'without qualification'? (hint: look at 394-395)

-What does it mean to say that an act is done 'from duty'? How does this differ from other kinds of acts?

-What is the difference between categorical and hypothetical imperative?

-What, according to Kant, is the Categorical Imperative that should guide our moral decisions?
