Course Description

This course introduces students to the methods and practices of philosophy through a rigorous investigation of central topics pertaining to traditional themes in epistemology and metaphysics. Students will engage key readings and ideas from the history of philosophy, and will find that the themes encountered bear heavily on current issues, events and popular culture. The course will focus on three primary topics: The nature and scope of knowledge, understandings of reality, and the nature of personhood. Our discussions will culminate in an investigation of the relevance of these topics to the possibility of a meaningful life.

Student Learning Outcomes

Students who successfully engage with course materials will be able to:

- Identify and articulate philosophical problems pertaining to the nature of knowledge and reality.
- Compare approaches and attempted solutions to these problems from a variety of philosophical traditions.
- Defend an original position on at least one philosophical issue.
- Describe the relevance of epistemological and metaphysical problems to contemporary popular concerns.

Course Expectations and Requirements

- Students who are considering dropping the course for any reason are encouraged to meet with me first—I'm happy to do what I can to help you succeed in this class! To this end, I strongly encourage you to take advantage of office hours.
- Students may miss a total of three class meetings without penalty during the term. A fourth absence will result in the loss of the "attendance buffer" (explained below) when final grades are calculated. A sixth absence will result in dismissal from the course.
- Students are not required to provide me with a reason for absence, nor are apologies necessary. I assume that absences will only occur under legitimate circumstances.
- Students who miss a class meeting are responsible for obtaining any information or assignments they may have missed.
- Attendance will be taken at the beginning of class on a regular basis. It is the student's responsibility to ensure that his/her name has been recorded accurately on daily attendance sheets.
- Students are expected to come to class on time. Three late arrivals will be considered equivalent to one absence on the attendance record.
- Reading assignments are required in this course. I understand that some of the reading will be challenging, and that it may not be fully understood without subsequent in-class explanation. Nevertheless, I expect that students will read the texts assigned, and will spend time thinking about them before each class meeting.

- As a significant portion of the course will involve class discussion of texts, it is expected that students will have completed assigned readings before the corresponding class meeting.
- It is expected that students will engage one another's ideas in discussion, and that this will be done in a respectful manner. Neither disparaging remarks nor personal attacks will be tolerated in any way. Students who demonstrate excellence in discussions will attend closely to the comments of other students, and offer remarks that are of relevance to the discussion at hand.
- Class discussions will feature small-group work. It is expected that students will participate actively in these groups.
- Cell phones and other electronic devices must be turned off during class. Students who need to leave a phone on for emergency purposes should let me know at the beginning of the class session. Text messaging/web-surfing is incompatible with active participation in class activities, and will not be permitted during class time. Students who use electronic devices in class without obtaining prior permission will be asked to leave.

Student Assessment:

Evaluations will be based upon the quality of individual student participation in discussions and written work. The final grade will be earned according to the following criteria:

- Homework journal:
 - In order to promote reading comprehension and improve the quality of class discussions, students will keep a journal documenting responses to all course readings. The details describing the contents of this journal will be available on the course website. It is expected that all students will have this journal with them, completed and up-to-date, at the beginning of every class meeting. I will collect small groups of journals at random throughout the course to check for completion, and occasionally offer comments on journal entries.
 - Failure to provide an-up-to-date journal available on request will be handled as follows:
 - First instance: Student will be given an opportunity to provide the up-to-date journal at the beginning of the next class meeting
 - Second instance: Student will lose the 10 percentage points allotted to "HW Journal" in the calculation of the final grade
 - Third instance: Student will be dropped from the course
 - If a student is absent on a date when his/her journal is requested, the journal will be due for submission upon the student's return to class
- Paper assignments:
 - All students will submit one short essay, and one longer essay.
 - Essays will be evaluated according to standards provided with assignment prompts. Standards for each paper will also be addressed verbally in class at the time of assignment. It is expected that students who remain unclear as to the standards of excellent written work will meet with the instructor before the assignment is due. "Re-writes" are not accepted for paper assignments. I am happy to review advance drafts of papers with you in person, but not via email.
 - Academic honesty is imperative in written work. I will spend time in class discussion plagiarism, and will take measures to help students avoid accidental plagiarism. Any plagiarized paper submitted to me will automatically result in a grade of "F" for the course, and will be reported to the Dean of Academics. Students who are unsure about standards for academic honesty should review this tutorial, and consult with me. In short, any uncited material, presented as your own original work, constitutes plagiarism. This includes uncited quotes from internet and print sources. There will be no exceptions to this policy.

- Paper Assignments turned in on time will be graded and returned with comments within one week of the due date. Students may submit assignments up to one week after the due date at no penalty, but I make no guarantees for a prompt return. I will not accept any papers that are turned in after this time.
- I practice blind grading to ensure impartiality in evaluating student work. Students should not write their names on the front of any paper assignment. Rather, the name should be written lightly in pencil on the back of the last page.
- Mid-Term and Final Exams:
 - A make-up exam will only be available under certifiable emergency circumstances, as determined by the instructor. Students who miss either exam for non-emergency reasons will not have the option for a make-up.
 - Students who miss three or fewer classes will automatically keep an “attendance buffer”, which will be used in calculating the final grade. The buffer is lost upon a fourth absence, and will not be restored. Final grades will be calculated as follows

	With attendance buffer	Without attendance buffer
HW Journal	10	10
Short Essay	20	25
Longer Essay	25	30
Midterm Exam	15	15
Final Exam	20	20
Attendance Buffer	10	0

- Argument Paper: 2 pts extra credit (OPTIONAL)
 - Students may earn up to 2 extra percentage points in the course by submitting an argument paper. Argument papers are described in detail on the “Assignments” page of the course website, and will be explained verbally in class. Only one argument paper may be submitted for the course.
