ECG Take-Home Quiz #4

EACH QUESTION IS WORTH ONE POINT. Please print out and complete this quiz, and turn it in on the assigned date.

1. The amplitude of any wave may be determined by measuring along the ____________ axis.
2. One large box on the vertical axis is equal to ____________ mV.
3. The bipolar limb leads are known as leads ____________, ____________, and ____________.
4. The first of six chest leads is placed at the ____________ side of the sternum at the ____________ intercostal space.
5. The sixth chest lead is placed at the horizontal level of position 4 at the ____________.
6. An interval can be defined as ____________.
7. The normal QT interval is ____________ to ____________ seconds.
8. The normal PR interval is ____________ to ____________ seconds.
9. Alternating Current artifact may be caused by ____________, ____________, ____________, or ____________.
10. The ____________ in the ECG machine makes the amount of electrical activity generated by the body larger to enhance ECG interpretation.