Changes:

The previous first SLO was replaced with and the previous second SLO. This year there is one SLO being assessed for this course.

Methods:

Measure: HW1 – Laws and the Exceptional Individual (Ch 2). This Homework assignment required students to write a brief essay that recounted the legislation on a subset of 6 critical laws that provided for people with disabilities, and how these provisions “fit” the current events of the time.

Results: The class average assignment score was 92% indicating a strong grasp of this SLO.

Summary:

Results: The class average assignment score was 92% indicating a strong grasp of this SLO.

Comments: Students had a clear understanding of this SLO. Students were able to identify and differentiate between characteristics of laws for various kinds of disabilities under IDEA. To open this collection of chapters we discussed what students already knew about the IDEA categories of disabilities. Most students were unfamiliar with IDEA and laws about people with disabilities. We did a timeline activity in small groups so students could specialize in laws. Each group presented their law in relation to current events of that time period. The Homework assignment required students to recount what the legislation provided and how the provision “fit” the current events.

Enhancement (Part I):

Recommendations: Use a similar strategy to learn this content. Link what students do and don't know about American History to the chapter content in a way that is motivating and interesting.

Enhancement (Part II):

No additional resources will be needed.
