Mission
“Institute of Community and Civic Engagement advances education for democracy with full participation of all of our communities as its core value”

Our goals are to:

- Empower students to be agents of change in their communities
- Define education as transformative and deeply relevant
- Teach and practice democracy for advocacy and change
- Embrace the cultural and social contexts of students
- Foster a democratic environment

History and Background
De Anza College is a major force in the social, cultural, and economic life of the large multicultural community that is the Silicon Valley. It serves over twenty three thousand students per year, of whom, over 75% identify as non-white.

De Anza has a reputation for being one of the best places for students to get a solid academic foundation. The college is one of the top three institutions in California transferring students from UC and CSU systems.

Although proven in academic excellence, we recognize that our diverse student population is still underserved and its assets are underutilized. For the past six years the college has been engaged in a concerted effort to achieve educational equity across different racial and ethnic groups. Our programs bring our students a meaningful educational experience, while helping to build community and social capital.

Civic engagement helps us to reach our equity goals as well as to achieve other long-standing goals of the institution.

Student Testimonials
“The institute’s passion for community involvement and raising awareness of important issues has inspired me to be more active in the community. The ICCE makes an enormous effort to provide opportunities for students to connect with current issues and to community organizations working on those issues. We should all participate in creating better communities and a better world.”

Isabella Imprenta, De Anza Student

“Public Allies Silicon Valley seeks partnerships with the community at large to promote the value of civic Participation. The Institute of Community and Civic Engagement offers us the opportunity to deepen our impact and outreach to our core audience, young leaders ages 18 to 30.”

Ato Walker, Director of Recruitment

Programs
Youth and Student Leadership
The annual De Anza’s Student Leadership conference, “Youth Voices United for Change,” connects high school and college students to community-based youth and student organizations.

Community Service Learning (CSL)
CSL is a form of experiential education in which students apply knowledge, skills, critical thinking and good judgment to address genuine community needs.

Community Scholars
The “Community Scholars in Residence” program brings community organizers and leaders to the campus as educators for public lectures, workshops and team teaching opportunities.

Community and Civic Engagement Certificates
The leadership and social change certificate will be offered in 2010.

ICCE Internship Program
The ICCE Internship Program provides the students a practical and purposeful experience of community service, engage students in working to make a difference in the civic life of our Silicon Valley communities, provide students the opportunity to develop their interpersonal relationships, and gain knowledge of the functional activities of a participating organization.
