The motion to approve the minutes passed.

General Public Announcements

Please note: Members of the public are limited to two minutes. The Senate cannot take action or respond to items during public announcements.

Budget Public Announcements

Please note: Members of the public are limited to three minutes. The Senate cannot take action or respond to items during public announcements.

- Jason Damjanovic, the Men's Basketball Coach, thanked the DASB for their support, allowing him and the team to do a lot of things like paying for the tournaments, and buying food for their trips. Since the program was cut for this year, he hoped to get the money reallocated, because travel, tournaments, and food are limited and their fundraising was cut too, which makes it difficult to provide funds for the team members.
- Arden Kragalott, the Women's Basketball Coach, also thanked the DASB for supporting the athletics division. He said that the students need access to sports to get scholarships for four-year Colleges, but since the division was cut $500, affecting tournaments and tournament fees, they could not go to one tournament. At these occasions though, many coaches come to watch the students compete, so he hopes they get reallocated that money to make more travel possible again.
- Diana Alves DeLima, representing the Tutorial Programs at the Student Success Center, passed around a fact sheet about the Tutorial Program. She said that the program is one of biggest receivers of the DASB funding, which is very important, because many students benefit from it. All of the funding is used to pay student salaries; tutoring is helping improve the tutor's leadership skills as well as the tutees' studying skills. The program appreciates the money that is allocated to them and will use it very well.
- Cheryl Owiesny, the Women's Soccer Coach thanked the DASB for their continued support, and announced that financial support is tremendous due to the higher standard of student athletes. They need a certain amount of PE units to transfer out, but they work about 20 hours longer each week to represent their teams well, starting their training in July and entering competitions at the end of August.
- Carmen Pereida, representing the CalWORKs OTI Program, introduced Daniel. He announced that the program serves about 300 single parents a year who are on public assistance. There are 15,000 families living in Santa Clara; one parent receives about $500 a month, which is supposed to get cut. The DASB helps the CalWORKS Program to provide textbooks for single parents, to support them to use education as a way out of poverty. These students have to take classes the whole year to be eligible for the program, so the textbook rental helps them a lot, especially in the first quarter, to get started with school.

- Mark Landefeld, the Men's Soccer and Women's Badminton Coach thanked the DASB for their support. He pointed out the high rankings for both PE classes, and announced that the Athletics Division received the All Sports Award three years in a row, and that they are that good because of the DASB funding.
- Rachel Pacheco, the Women's Softball Coach, introduced Hayley, a member of the softball team. She submitted thanks from the whole team for getting meals while traveling and the general support by the DASB.
- Jennifer Barnett, Jan Rindfleisch, and Ashneet Sandhu from the Euphrat Museum of Art introduced the museum as one of the best known institutions from De Anza. It helps students to apply their education, and offers students important internships. Having this experience is very helpful for transferring, and taking away the program means taking away all the people that benefit from it, so please support and celebrate arts.
- Wilfredo Q. Castano, representing the Photography Department, thanked the DASB for recommending $3000. The department is having a hassle to keep up with the 21st century regarding technology, but because of the help they can have exhibitions inside the Photography Department. The film- and digital cameras are very high-tech and in the hands of the students they are being used best, but without being supported by the DASB they would not be able to do that. The rewards of this support are visible: last year, two students were published in the book "Best of College Photography 2010", and in 2011, three more students will be published in the 2011 version of that book.
- Webb Hamilton, representing the Cross Cultural Partners Program, was very grateful for the past support. He announced that the program serves about 700 to 800 students a year, and they were very thankful for receiving the special allocation last quarter, but now they are quite disappointed that the Finance Committee only recommended $2,000 for the next year. Still, they welcome the idea of having a CCP Council, and they will submit the requested Student Learning Outcomes soon. The Council shall strengthen the program and help understand how unique the program is, and even though it is operating on a very limited funding, the program yet is very helpful. Students learn how to overcome the tendency to be in their own cliques and to expand their horizons to interact with other people in their environment.
- Lydia Heam, representing the Honors Program pointed out that five years ago, the program had fewer than 50 members, and now serves 400 students. In the past they have been focusing on growing, now they are focusing on strengthening it. They started with having 7 to 8 honors classes a year, now they offer over 100 each quarter. They recently started the Honors Council for faculty and students to join; 20 people attended their first meeting and 20 more want to join. Some ways to strengthen the program are adding more core courses, and funding money for curriculum facilitators to develop new classes. The most impressive fact about the Honors Program is that it represents the diversity of De Anza, and people who value their education. She thanked the DASB for the past funding; without it the Honors Program cannot exist. She also thanked for challenging it, because that has made everyone work hard to improve the program.

- Kaveh Darya, representing the OTI-Comptechs Program, introduced Linda, who thanked the DASB for the past support. She announced that they have old computers and give students the opportunity to learn how to put them back together, handing them back to people who need them. She thanked the DASB for keeping the program alive and helping them fund students who want to learn and to get new machines for students. They also help the community by recycling electronics and making it useful again, providing computer and education access to everyone.
- Nick Mattis, the Cross-Country and Track & Field Coach pointed out that they could not do everything they do without the DASB. Since they do not have a facility for home games, the funding helps them go and practice at another track, but the De Anza track is in a bad condition, so they cannot run on it. Even though they are one of the few schools teams who do not have a track, the DASB makes them look great when they go to competitions.
- Dan Atencia, the Football Coach thanked the DASB for the help given, and asked for little bit more, because since the team had won the Championships, it is attracting more quality players and student athletes. The team now needs more money to support its over 100 players. He and the team appreciate all the help by the DASB and are very grateful for having had the Tailgate Party.
- Robert Thompson, representing the Math Performance Success Program announced that they do not have enough funding for the next quarter, but a lot of students rely on the tutoring. Having problems with Maths, the program is very useful for them, so it needs to retain funding. Maths is a requirement for most majors to move on with the students' educational goals, and the MPS program helps accomplishing these transferring requirements. All the allocated money goes directly to tutoring, and the program is much needed.
- Beth Grobman, representing the La Voz Newspaper thanked the DASB for the past funding, and pointed out that the newspaper exists to serve all the students. The goals are training journalists, to provide a way to communicate with all students on campus, and to give all students a voice by joining the newspaper, writing a letter to the editors or talking to them. They also want to create a history of the College, since there are only very few written documents. La Voz uses most of the allocated budget for printing costs, since all other costs are being covered by College funds, grants and advertising. They view the money for printing as the College's newspaper subscription. They enjoyed working with the DASB; especially since this year they had a good relationship submitting the half page of DASB ads in time.
- Nicky Yuen, representing the Campus Camp Wellstone, thanked the Senators for governing the students every week, and announced that he is very proud that Campus Camp Wellstone is funded by the DASB, too. He was very grateful for the recommended funding and invited everyone to come to the camp in April.
- Dan Weisner, representing the Red Wheelbarrow announced that they were publishing a book including the best writing and poetry on campus, displaying campus art. The best work gets awards that come from sales, so the DASB only pays for printing costs. The program invites outside professional judges to judge the talents on campus, and these talents recommend themselves to the community through the magazine. The students get a lot out of this, since their work is being published. This book brings everyone together; it is timeless and beautiful, and the students are very proud of it.

Approved on Wednesday, February 16th, 2011

Senate Announcements

- Sana Kathuria announced that the Student Service Day is coming up, so she e-mailed everyone to contact their services.
- Amira Farah passed around a sign-up sheet for selling tickets for the Benefit Concert.
- Brenden Fant thanked Nevin Sarina for his help with DARE.
- Nevin Sarina thanked everyone who held classroom presentations for DARE.
- Pamela Jara resigned as of today from the Senate, because she saw some people that are working a lot, but some do not. She said that the Senate needs collective action, and that she has significantly grown as a leader, but now she needs to take care of her personal life and academics. She could stay here but only do the minimum, so she decided to resign.
- Neesha Tambe thanked Pamela Jara for all the work, and said that she has truly been an example for everybody and an inspiration. She thanked Pamela Jara for the things she accomplished, and announced that her actions will not be forgotten.
- Anmol Mirakhur announced that on February 14th, there will be an Organic Chocolate event.
- Anaruth Hernandez congratulated Nevin Sarina for the success of DARE. She announced that despite the fact that more than 60 people could not sign in, 407 students attended the Walk-In. She also thanked everyone who was there, and announced that they made an impact today.
- Amirah Farah reminded the Senators of the Student Forum at February 28th.

Internal Reports

- Natasha Asar from the Student Rights and Services Committee announced that they had contacted everyone for the Student Service Day, and that the Walk-In today was very successful.
- Arvind Ravichandran reminded the Senate that the Student Forum is on Feb 28th in the Main Quad, and whoever is interested in talking to faculty shall please sign up on the paper he passed around.
- Meera Suresh announced that the “Campus Cupboard” will be providing free food/lunch for students, and that the Committee will have the finalized draft by next week.
- Thoa Hoang from the Marketing Committee announced that they had discussed ideas to advertise the Student Forum and Student Service Day, and also what to do to get people apply for food scholarships. She honored Cindy Luu’s creative ideas for promotional items and Edison Giang’s hard work on the flyers.
- Leo Nguyen from the Finance Committee announced that the Committee approved the request for the new printer for the DASB Senate Office and the request of $6,000 from the March in March against Budget Cuts.
- Lena Ghamrawi from the Diversity and Events Committee announced that the Senators should let her know if they want to help out on the February 14th Chocolate event, that the Student Service Day will be on February 23rd, The Benefit Concert will be on February 24th, and the Student Forum will be on February 28th.

Approved on Wednesday, February 16th, 2011

- Anaruth Hernandez from the Environmental Sustainability Committee announced that the bike subcommittee approved 5 bikes for quarterly rental and that the eco/bus pass subcommittee meeting times will be Fridays at 2.30pm.
- Ahmad Fayad from the Administration Committee announced that Ali Masood and Gloria Cheung finalized the timeline for the advertising process for the Judicial Board. The Committee amended some wording in the Bylaws, adding the requirement to keep track of all tasks everyone has to do. He also announced that Kenny Perng and Brenden Fant worked hard on the Parli Pro Workshop, and that the Committee will maybe add more duties on Junior Senators. They will review office and field hours, make sure that the Judicial Board Bylaws are ready, and the Elections Code, too.
- Ze-Kun Li from the Election Committee announced that they had their first meeting last week, and made only few changes to the Election Code; they added a “Bylaw check-in” for Senators to have a better understanding of the Bylaws and Codes, and changed some of the weeks in which they start promoting the elections.

External Reports

- Anmol Mirakhur announced that for SSPBT, the Academic DARE is looking into improving the assessment process at De Anza, which includes placement tests and Orientation for new students. They discussed on how to improve students’ goals on the placement tests, which will be achieved by better preparation for the placement tests. They also discussed how they could train the faculty at these different high schools to better inform different students about their future goals here at De Anza.
- Brenden Fant announced that ETAC discussed the implementation of the group and course studio, that is being implemented into Myportal. Students will have a location to communicate with classmates through my portal. Group studio offers student organizations the ability to communicate, as well as covering the project prioritization list of upcoming infrastructure projects around FHDA.
- Amira Farah announced that the Instructional Planning and Budget Team discussed the state of De Anza College’s programs for 2012/2013 year. Due to the increasing budget cuts towards education, De Anza will be facing severe cuts to several programs and several programs will not be funded in 2012/2013. The cuts will not be as severe next year because De Anza has $10 million in reserve funds that can go towards sustaining the programs for the next year. The planning needs to be done early to notify the programs affected as to their future. There also was talk of a “hit list” being created and there was concern from faculty that the list would get out. The team discussed ways of deciding which programs would be cut and which programs are vital to the college.
- Cindy Luu attended the Facilities Planning Meeting. There will be a lot of construction during the summer; sidewalks will be paved in Parking lot A, and from the Mary entrance of the school, Parking lot B will be closed to build photo voltaic solar panels, and 10 charging stations will also be built for electric cars. In addition, the Sunken Gardens will also be reconstructed to appear more historic. In June 2012, the graduation will be held at Homestead High school due to field construction. The Mediated Learning Center will be done and open hopefully by next year. Lots of littering and graffiti, such as stickers, have been found around campus. Students are also destroying the campus property, like tables and umbrellas. Therefore, the Meeting suggested to have DASB host a spring clean up since the school currently only has 4 grounds people to clean the campus and it's way more work than they can handle.

- Tevita Tapavalu added to Cindy Luu's report that the new DASB office construction begins in July.
- Ali Masood announced that the DASB will be staying upstairs in the Campus Center for all Summer and Fall.
