Catalog Description

Description: Theory and techniques of public speaking in a democratic society. An introduction to a variety of perspectives and approaches used to research, organize, deliver, and evaluate public presentations.

Succeeding in This Five Unit Course

Success in this course is based on the expectation that students will spend, for each unit of credit, a minimum of forty-five hours over the length of the course (normally 4 hours per unit per week with 1 of the hours used for lecture) for instruction or preparation/studying or course related activities including but not limited to internships, labs, and clinical practica. Other course structures will have equivalent workload expectations as described in the syllabus.

Don't procrastinate. Start work early in the week. Sometimes the Internet may be down later in the week or you may have some other emergency at the eleventh hour. Plan ahead, especially for your major assignments. In fact, look ahead at the assignments, and work ahead if you have the time.

Note about deadlines: Due dates are not a light suggestion and can't be made up when more convenient for you. You'll need to figure out priorities and if this class isn't one of them, please don't ask me to accommodate you and your grade by offering extra credit at the end of the term. The end of the term is when I too am in burn out mode. I'm trying to get all the grading done and turn in final grades. I do not appreciate nor read the flood of emails from students who just then are checking their grade and realizing it isn't up to par and asking for extra work to make up for that. You should be regularly checking your grade and seeing what you need to do to earn the grade you desire.

Missed assignments/speeches due to illness, family emergencies and/or unusual circumstances will require documentation. In addition, these assignments must be negotiated with me in a timely manner and may receive a point deduction.

Please be aware that I will ONLY accept late work in cases of extreme personal emergency; furthermore, any late work I accept will be subject to a fifty percent grade penalty. This goes for any assignment. Late assignments will automatically go to the bottom of my to do list-I try to grade "first in, first out."

These are some suggestions to make this course FUN and STRESS FREE for all of us: ALWAYS keep a copy of your quizzes and assignments as backup, in case the one submitted on Canvas is somehow lost. I will expect you to show me your backup copy as proof of completion before I can give you credit for any work lost. Please keep all graded assignments until the final grade is received, as a safeguard measure. Assignments with more than five spelling mistakes or grammatical errors will need to be submitted again.

De Anza College DSPS Syllabus Statement

De Anza College views disability as an important aspect of diversity, and is committed to providing equitable access to learning opportunities for all students. Disability Support Services (DSS) is the campus office that collaborates with students who have disabilities to provide and/or arrange reasonable accommodations

- If you have, or think you have, a disability in any area such as, mental health, attention, learning, chronic health, sensory, or physical, please contact DSS to arrange a confidential discussion regarding equitable access and reasonable accommodations.
- If you are registered with DSS and have accommodations set by a DSS counselor, please be sure that your instructor has received your accommodation letter from Clockwork early in the quarter to review how the accommodations will be applied in the course.

Students who need accommodated test proctoring must meet appointment booking deadlines at the Testing Center.

- Exams must be booked at least five (5) business days in advance of the instructor approved exam date/time.
- Finals exams must be scheduled seven (7) business days/weekdays in advance of the instructor approved exam date/time.
- Failure to meet appointment booking deadlines will result in the forfeit of testing accommodations and you will be required to take your exam in class.
- Contact the DSS if you cannot find or utilize your MyPortal Clockwork Portal.
- DSS strives to provide accommodations in a reasonable and timely manner, some accommodations may take additional time to arrange. We encourage you to work with DSS and your faculty as early in the quarter as possible so that we may ensure that your learning experience is accessible and successful.

Course Website

You will find copies of the course syllabus, readings, assignment sheets, and other resources in our Canvas course site. You are responsible for regularly (min 3x/week) accessing the class website throughout the semester. I will post announcements and other important alerts about the class on the class website. Set up your Canvas notifications so you receive alerts when I post something on our site.

Course Goals

Effective public speaking skills are essential for members of a democratic society. In this course, you will develop strategies for designing well-organized, researched, extemporaneous speeches on topics of social significance adapted to a diverse audience. The speaking engagements, in-class activities, small group discussions, and speeches allow you to practice and critique your oral communication skills as well as observe and evaluate those of others. Readings, lectures, written assignments and class discussions serve as resources for you as you develop your public speaking abilities and become more at ease when addressing an audience.

Student Learning Outcomes (SLO)

SLO1: Organize, compose, present, and critically evaluate informative and persuasive presentations appropriate in content and style to the audience and situation

SLO2: Display increasing confidence in speaking extemporaneously.

SLO3: Demonstrate effective listening skills in various public speaking contexts.

SLO4: Identify, locate, evaluate and use information technologies and information sources.

Course Learning Outcomes (CLO)

After successfully completing this course, you will understand and be able to:

CLO1: Examine historical and cultural traditions of oral communication in both domestic and global contexts and assess their impact on our views, beliefs, and practices relating to speaking in public.

CLO2: Evaluate how making the decision to respect diversity, speak ethically, and think critically influences communication outcomes.

CLO3: Research, analyze, organize, compose, present and evaluate informative and persuasive speeches.

CLO4: Develop confidence in delivering speeches extemporaneously.

CLO5: Develop listening skills to foster respectful, reflective, and critical listening appropriate in public presentation.

Required Texts and Readings

The Public Speaking Project

This is a free, online textbook.)

Suggested (not required) McDermott, M. (2014). Speak with Courage. Boston, MA: Bedford/St.Martin's ISBN978-1-4576-3834-3. Can be purchased used on Amazon for under $10. Great for those who are severely anxious about public speaking.

Students are expected to keep current in the reading of the text, even if chapter material is not directly covered in class. Quizzes, in class activities and any online discussions will be drawn primarily from the textbook and slides I present in class.

Additional Materials required for this class

One package of 3x5 inch index card.

Access to the internet and a printer. Access to an active email address that is checked at least twice a week by 11PM on the night prior to class; and a current De Anza Library card.

One recording device for recording video and audio of your speeches, such as a cell phone, camera, laptop, or tablet. Alternately, you may make arrangements with another student in the class to record your speech.

Classroom Protocol

Common courtesy and professional behavior dictate that you notify someone when you are recording her/him. You must obtain my permission to make audio or video recordings in this class. Such permission allows the recordings to be used for your private, study purposes only. The recordings are the intellectual property of the instructor; you have not received any rights to reproduce or distribute the material. Course material developed by an instructor is the intellectual property of that instructor and cannot be shared publicly without her/his approval. You may not publicly share or upload instructor generated material for this course such as exam questions, lecture notes, or homework solutions without my consent.

In this classroom, we will not tolerate hate speech (i.e., abusive language or gestures that could incite emotional distress or violent response), violence, harassment or discriminatory conduct. Students will adhere to the Student Code of Conduct as described in Title 5 of the California Code of Regulations.

Dropping and Adding

Students are responsible for understanding the policies and procedures about add/drop and grade forgiveness. Refer to the current quarter's catalog policies. Add/drop deadlines can be found on the current academic year calendar document. Students should be aware of the current deadlines and penalties for dropping classes. I am not responsible for dropping you. If you choose not come to class, you must drop yourself before the deadline. This responsibility is yours, not mine and you will earn an F at the end of the term if your name is on the roster and you've never attended.

Assignments and Grading Policy

To receive full credit, all assignments should be typed, proofread, appropriately referenced and turned in on the day they are due. By submitting this electronic copy to Canvas, you are also submitting your work to Turnitin.com, an online plagiarism detection service. Public speaking is an intensive, skills-building class for most students—a class that involves and evolves from our collective discussions and risk-taking. This means that it is in your best interest to attend and actively participate in each and every session. However, should an emergency arise, please do everything in your power to contact me prior to missing class so that we might try to make alternative arrangements.

You should strive for five qualities in your speeches and writing: (1) your writing should be compelling (i.e., it should articulate a claim, make a point, be purposeful), (2) your writing should be complete (i.e., it should address all aspects of the assignment, it should be sufficiently developed), (3) your writing should be coherent (i.e., your argument should logically progress from one paragraph to the next), (4) your writing should be concise (i.e., it should be richly developed, but not meandering or repetitive), and (5) your writing should be correct (i.e., it should be free of grammatical, typographical and source citation errors, as well as fallacious reasoning).

Total minimum word requirement for this course: 2750 words.

Formatting Instructions

Unless instructed otherwise, all written work should be typed, double-spaced, printed on paper, with one-inch margins all around, in standard 12-point Times New Roman font, and stapled. Please do not include a title/cover page. Citations should be formatted in accordance with APA guidelines.

University Policies

Academic integrity

Instances of academic dishonesty will not be tolerated. Cheating on exams or plagiarism (presenting the work of another as your own, or the use of another person's ideas without giving proper credit) will result in a failing grade and sanctions by De Anza College. For this class, all assignments are to be completed by the individual student unless otherwise specified.

Speeches: 255 points. Informative Speech (Life Advice) An informative speech where you share advice to your peers, tying in relevant research from experts who support your argument. Persuasive Interviews: A persuasive attempt in front of a panel of interviewers to land your dream job. Demonstration Speech A speech in which you show your listeners how to do something that will impact their life. Should have a broad social relevance something; that is socially or culturally significant. (CLO1, CLO2, CLO3, CLO4)

Complete-sentence Outlines: 75 points. You must turn in a 500-1000 word (not including the reference page) complete-sentence outline with a reference page for each major speaking assignment prior to delivering your speech. (CLO1, CLO3, CLO4)

Speaking exercises: 20 points. In order to practice skills you will need for the speeches, you will participate in a series of engagements (brief speaking exercises). (CLO2, CLO3, CLO4)

Peer Responses: 30 points. You'll complete peer responses for your classmates' speeches. (CLO2)

Self-Evaluations: 30 points. You will reflect on your performance in your three major speech assignments as a means of appraising your growth and setting future goals as a speaker. Each self-evaluation should be at least 500 words. (CLO1, CLO2, CLO3, CLO4)

Weekly Online Assignments: 90 points. Weekly online assignments designed to enhance your public speaking.

Online Unit

Online assignments will be turned in/presented on the due date indicated in the syllabus and Canvas. I do not accept late assignments unless there are extreme circumstances because most of the assignments you can complete over a period of 6 days. Makeups are decided on a case by case basis and only partial credit is given for the late work. It is also your responsibility to keep track of your absences and scores. Online participation includes but is not limited to timely and meaningful participation in all online discussions; timely submission of all assignments; responsible and active participation in group activities; courteous and responsive communication with all members of the class.

Below are some helpful tips in navigating how I use Canvas.

On the left navigation, "Home" will always take you back to this page. "Modules" will direct you readings, resources and examples to make sure you succeed in the course. "Grades" will give you an up to date assessment on your progress and standing in the course which is viewable only to you and myself. Check this periodically and communicate with me if you're missing points for any assignment you believe you've turned in. "Assignments" will take you to a full description of all the assignments in the course.

Use Canvas's calendar or "upcoming assignments" from the home page in conjunction with the syllabus. If there's conflicting information, just send me a Canvas message and kindly point it out to me.
