Course Description: Effective public speaking skills are essential for members of a democratic society. In this course, you will develop strategies for designing well-organized, researched, extemporaneous speeches on a variety of topics adapted to a diverse audience. The speeches and online discussions allow you to practice and critique your oral communication skills as well as observe and evaluate those of others. Readings, lectures, written assignments, and quizzes serve as resources for you as you develop your public speaking abilities and become more at ease when addressing an audience.

Course Objectives (CLO's)

The student will:

1. Examine historical and cultural traditions of oral communication in both domestic and global contexts and assess their impact on our views, beliefs, and practices relating to speaking in public.
2. Evaluate how making the decision to respect diversity, speak ethically, and think critically influences communication outcomes.
3. Select, locate, evaluate, and use information technologies and information sources.
4. Apply research, analyze, organize, compose, present, and evaluate informative and persuasive speeches.
5. Develop confidence in delivering speeches extemporaneously in front of a live audience.
6. Develop listening skills to foster respectful, reflective, and critical listening appropriate in public presentation.

Student Learning Outcomes (SLO's)

In addition to the course objectives, there are also specific Student Learning Outcomes (SLO's) associated with COMM 1. Specifically, by the end of this course, students will:

1. Organize, compose, present, and critically evaluate informative and persuasive presentations appropriate in content and style to the audience and situation.
2. Display increasing confidence in speaking extemporaneously.
3. Demonstrate effective listening skills in various public speaking contexts.
4. Identify, locate, evaluate and use information technologies and information sources.

Help and Support beyond this class:

DeAnza offers a variety of services to help you be a successful student.

POLICIES

Note: You can find a more detailed description of course policies in How this course works in the Orientation Module.

Student Expectations:

- - Ethics:

- You should submit your own, original work for this course. Here is more information about academic integrityLinks to an external site. at De Anza.
 - Administrative:
 - If despite your best efforts you find you must drop the class, please let me know and then you need to process your drop promptly. Do not depend on being automatically dropped.
- Speech presentations:
 - Be present and ready to deliver your speech extemporaneously in class on the scheduled dates. See course schedule below.
 - Fulfill your role as an attentive, respectful audience member when critically evaluating presentations.
- Online discussions
 - Participate actively in all discussions which will help you compose, organize and locate information sources for your speeches as you help others do the same.
 - For each discussion you will need to post your initial response Wednesday and then respond to two of your peers with questions and evaluations by Saturday.
 - Because of the dynamic nature of Online discussions there are no late due dates.
- Written Assignments
 - Follow instructions and submit on time written assignments (speech outlines, quizzes and the Self-evaluation) to maximize the benefit of critically evaluating your completed speeches as well as composing upcoming speeches.
 - Late submissions are deducted 20% off the points possible. There are no excused late assignments. If you don't make the late due date, you receive a zero for that assignment.

Instructor Expectations:

 - I will send out weekly overviews through Canvas announcements every Monday at 8am.
 - I will check my email and Canvas messages Monday-Friday during the day and will respond within 24 hours.
 - I will hold weekly office hours on Zoom. For days, times and Zoom links see top of the syllabus.
 - I typically grade assignments with comments within a week.
 - I will grade and comment on late submissions but while you will get points (with a 20% deduction) you may not get feedback in time to use for your upcoming assignment.

- I will allow you to present a makeup speech with a 20% point deduction if time allows. Because makeup speeches are not guaranteed, plan to present all your speeches on time.
- My number one goal as an instructor is to help you successfully complete this course. If you need help, please contact me at canoroyce@fhda.edu , talk to me on class day or click on the inbox icon to the left of the Course Navigation to access Canvas messaging. I encourage you to contact me promptly to maximize your options.
